Development and implementation of online screeners

A magnifying glass with a grey handle is positioned over a group of diverse, colorful human figures. The figures are in various colors (purple, green, blue, red, orange, yellow) and are arranged in a cluster. The magnifying glass is focused on the center of the group, highlighting the individuals. The background is white.

Some questions for discussion:

- What kind of skills assessment is available in your country/region?
- What kind of skills assessment is necessary and for what purposes?
- What are obstacles for implementing or developing any kind of skills assessment?
- What do you need to develop and implement/pilot a basic skills screening instrument or assessment?

Thank you for your attention!
